2013 Laureate
Toyo Ito
Japan
Sponsored by The Hyatt Foundation

Toyo Ito, Photo by Yoshiaki Tsutsui
The following pages contain images of the architecture of Toyo Ito. On the PritzkerPrize.com web site, these photos are linked to high resolution images that may be used for printing or broadcast in relation to the announcement of Toyo Ito being named the 2013 Pritzker Architecture Prize Laureate. The photographer/photo libraries/artists must be credited if noted. High resolution images may be downloaded for printing in newspapers, magazines, and other media. All photos are courtesy of Toyo Ito & Associates, Architects.
White U (house)
1975—76
Nakano-ku, Tokyo, Japan

Photo by Koji Taki
The Pritzker Architecture Prize
2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, White U (house), 1975—1976, Nakano-ku, Tokyo, Japan
Silver Hut (house)
1982—1984

Nakano-ku, Tokyo, Japan

Photos by Tomio Ohashi
Tower of Winds
1986

Yokohama-shi, Kanagawa, Japan
Dome in Odate (multipurpose dome)
1993—1997

Odate-shi, Akita, Japan
Sendai Mediatheque
1995—2000
Sendai-shi, Miyagi, Japan

Photos by Tomio Ohashi
Photos by Nacasa & Partners Inc.
The Pritzker Architecture Prize
2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, Sendai Mediatheque, 1995—2000, Sendai-shi, Miyagi, Japan

Photo by Tomio Ohashi
Serpentine Gallery Pavilion
2002
London, U.K.
Matsumoto Performing Arts Centre
2000—2004

Matsumoto-shi, Nagano, Japan

Photos by Hiroshi Ueda
The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, Matsumoto Performing Arts Centre, 2000—2004, Matsumoto-shi, Nagano, Japan

Photos by Hiroshi Ueda
The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, Matsumoto Performing Arts Centre, 2000—2004, Matsumoto-shi, Nagano, Japan

Photo by Hiroshi Ueda
TOD’S
Omotesando Building
2002—2004

Shibuya-ku,
Tokyo, Japan

Photos by Nacasa & Partners Inc.
The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, TOD'S Omotesando Building, 2002—2004, Shibuya-ku, Tokyo, Japan

Photos by Nacasa & Partners Inc.
Meiso no Mori Municipal Funeral Hall
2004—2006
Kakamigahara-shi, Gifu, Japan
The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, Meiso no Mori Municipal Funeral Hall, 2004—2006, Kakamigahara-shi, Gifu, Japan
Tama Art University Library (Hachioji campus)
2004—2007
Hachioji-shi, Tokyo, Japan

Photos by Tomio Ohashi
The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, Tama Art University Library (Hachioji campus), 2004–2007, Hachioji-shi, Tokyo, Japan

Photos by Tomio Ohashi
The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, Tama Art University Library (Hachioji campus), 2004—2007, Hachioji-shi, Tokyo, Japan

Photos by Tomio Ohashi
Bottom right: Photo by Iwan Baan
The Pritzker Architecture Prize
2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, Tama Art University Library (Hachioji campus), 2004—2007, Hachioji-shi, Tokyo, Japan
Za-Koenji Public Theatre
2005—2008
Suginami-ku, Tokyo, Japan
The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, Za-Koenji Public Theatre, 2005—2008, Suginami-ku, Tokyo, Japan
The Taichung Metropolitan Opera House Taichung, Taiwan R.O.C. 2005—

The Taichung Metropolitan Opera House is built by the Taichung City Government, Republic of China (Taiwan)
The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, The Taichung Metropolitan Opera House-Taichung, Taiwan R.O.C., 2005—.

The Taichung Metropolitan Opera House is built by the Taichung City Government, Republic of China (Taiwan).
Main Stadium for The World Games 2009
2006—2009

Kaohsiung, Taiwan R.O.C.

Photos by Fu Tsu Construction Co., Ltd.
The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2013 Laureate Toyo Ito, Main Stadium for The World Games 2009, 2006—2009, Kaohsiung, Taiwan R.O.C.

Photo by FuTsu Construction Co., Ltd.
Toyo Ito
Museum of Architecture
2006—2011

Imabari-shi,
Ehime, Japan

Photos by Daici Ano
32

Photos by Daici Ano

Photo by Daici Ano